

THE MAASTRICHT TREATY: THE ROAD TOWARDS RATIFICATION

The majority endeavoured to ratify quickly. It was a surprise to all of us that Denmark had said 'No'. However, we were convinced - especially myself - that a solution could be found by reaching agreements with the Danes on one or two particular issues.

UPCOMING EUROSCEPTICISM

At around this time Euroscepticism was increasing in some countries. But in the end no-one saw any alternative to continuing with European integration, and therefore the emerging Euroscepticism was the result of national misgivings.
